Why Triple-I

Triple-I has a unique niche that allows us to stand out from the crowd of other industry-supporting organizations. Our efforts are focused on educating, elevating, and connecting consumers, industry professionals, public policymakers, and media — not on lobbying or selling insurance.

In addition to working tirelessly for our dues-paying members, Triple-I's efforts...

Serve as a neutral party focused on educating public policymakers on risk management and insurance. Without a lobbying agenda, Triple-I's work in this area is highly regarded by policymakers.

Tackle the hard issues facing risk management and insurance with proactive campaigns. Triple-I has been leading the conversation on critical topics such as legal system abuse, climate resilience, cyber risk, and risk-based pricing.

Maintain the number one online resource for insurance information for consumers, media, and insurance professionals.

Collaborate with other organizations to help educate consumers, including publishing a Homebuyers Insurance Handbook in conjunction with the National Association of REALTORS®.
